Archivaria is published semi-annually in May and October with grateful acknowledgement for assistance provided by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC), by Library and Archives Canada, and by the Faculty of Information Studies, University of Toronto.

- Articles appearing in Archivaria are abstracted and indexed in the Canadian Periodical Index, Historical Abstracts, Library Literature, and America: History and Life.
- The full collection of Archivaria issues is available online; the most recent eight issues are located in the Reserved Collection, available to current subscribers and ACA members, while all previous issues from #1 are open to the public in the Main Collection. Terms of Use and links to both collections are located in the Archivaria section at <http://www.archivists.ca/publications/archivaria.aspx>

A Message to Archivaria Authors: During the creation of the Archivaria online collections, the ACA has made considerable effort to reach the over 900 authors who have contributed articles, reviews, notes, and communications to Archivaria over its 32 years in publication. Despite these efforts, it has not always been possible to locate and obtain permission from each individual, or their next of kin.

In the event that you do not wish to have your works included in the online collection, or if you have any questions related to the collection, we encourage you to contact the Association of Canadian Archivists office (email: execdir@archivists.ca) at your earliest opportunity. Electronic articles for which permission is declined will be removed as quickly as possible following receipt of such direction.
